

Hypnotic Creation & Management Of Personality Alters

By David Barron and Dantalion Jones

OVERVIEW

This document is written to give information on how personality alters can be created and managed through the use of hypnosis. You will learn how the underlying mental process of dissociation can be utilized to create a spectrum of responses. These responses can be therapeutic but they can also be used to cross ethical boundaries and exploit the hypnosis subject.

WARNING

This document is exclusively for informational purposes. Extreme caution is advised in any attempt to apply this information. Misuse of this information can have devastating consequences for the hypnotist using it and their hypnosis subject.
